

BLACKFLY – THE PROBLEM

A tiny worm causes river blindness (onchocerciasis)

The worm is transmitted by small biting blackflies

It is difficult to work when many flies are biting, and scratching bites leads to discoloration of the skin

Blackflies breed in the rapid sections of rivers and streams

